

Suppose we need to store the following data

- customer name
- customer email
- order date
- order price